

Rollalong Job Descriptions for Sales Designer, Lead Design Engineer, Production Design Engineer (Senior & Junior)

Sales Designer

Experienced and proficient user of 2D and 3D software packages (AutoCAD, Revit- BIM or similar) gained within a building / architectural environment.

Required to produce high quality and imaginative visualizations of Modular Design solutions (both 2D and 3D) for our clients or potential clients

Prepare planning application submissions providing floor plans, section through and elevations, site plans, landscape drawings and when necessary street scenes in 2D or 3D.would be an advantage.

Ideally Degree level however HNC/HND will be considered with the right experience / Track Record or equivalent tertiary qualification.

Lead Design Engineer

Having a track record of using 2D and 3D software packages (AutoCAD, Revit- BIM or similar) gained within a building / architectural environment.

To produce high quality, technically-accurate, cost-effective modular building frame design solutions, and bills of materials using a mixture of light steel framing, hot rolled steel, timber or composite panel solutions as the job dictates to match the requirements of both enquiries and orders and maintain a risk register (CDM).

Being responsible for organizing and controlling a program of design work targeted towards a specific building project, ensuring all activities are conducted in accordance with the business' quality process framework.

Production Design Engineer (Senior & Junior)

To produce high quality, efficient, technically-accurate, cost-effective componentry as part of the modular building design using light steel framing, hot rolled steel, timber or composite panel solutions using

2D and 3D software packages (AutoCAD, Revit- BIM or similar)

Ensuring all proposed design solutions are prioritized in accordance with procurement and manufacturing schedules and consider ease of Factory build flow process and are fully transportable.

Towards becoming a product technical expert, continually embracing new technologies and developments.

Also highlighting that 3D AutoCAD Revit and BIM experience would be advantageous.

All CV's must be sent to anne.evans@rollalong.co.uk to apply.